Elephant On Rampage

Bolts Carnival Act, Wrecks Store, Finally Killed

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A carnival elephant bolted from its act, trampled through a crowded department store, kicked an elderly man and led police and hundreds of citizens on a two-mile chase Thursday night until it was shot down.

City police pumped more than 20 rifle slugs into the 3,000-pound animal when it cornered its trainer, William Pratt of King Brothers Carnival, on a street.

"It was getting more crazed all the time," a policeman said. The elephant rumbled out of its ring at the carnival site in the parking lot of the Logan Shopping Center. It crashed into a department store through a front door. The female elephant plodded through the aisles, destroying thousands of dollars in merchandise, store manager Meyer Friedman said.

Byrd Firmly In Control Of Tax Unit

Able To Enforce Go-Slow Policy On Tax Reduction Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., appeared firmly in control of the Senate Finance Committee today and thus able to enforce his go-slow policy on President Kennedy's tax cut bill.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a committee member, said he was confident that Byrd could count on at least nine votes, a bare majority, to block any moves to speed up consideration of the measure.

It was learned that administration supporters had talked to Republican members about such moves. But a Republican senator told a reporter no support for them would be forthcoming from his side.

This made it likely that in any showdown the Virginian would have the backing of Gore, Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., and the six Republicans.

Most, if not all of the other eight Democrats are expected to support the administration's view that the Senate can and should act on the bill this year.

The $11-billion tax cut bill, biggest in the nation's history, passed the House Wednesday.

The measure would mean reductions starting next Jan. 1 for nearly every individual and corporate income taxpayer.

For individuals, the cuts when the bill is fully effective would range from $106 a year for a four-person family with $5,000 annual income to $5,278 for the $100,000-income family.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has been buttonholing all Finance Committee members, urging an immediate start on public hearings on the legislation.

But Byrd announced that the committee work would begin next Thursday and in closed session, with briefings by congressional staff experts running for a week or 10 days.

He has not yet scheduled a time for Dillon's opening appearance or for other public witnesses, but some committee members say the best guess is the week starting Oct. 14.

2 Alternates Offered City On St. Clair

A State Highway Department official today gave Mayor Bert H. Goodbald two alternate proposals for reducing the scope and cutting the cost of the St. Clair Ave. improvement, indicating the Bureau of Public Roads probably would favor reducing the pavement width from 36 to 24 feet at an approximate saving of $200,000.

The central office at Columbus has furnished a revised estimate of approximately $650,000 on Alternate Plan B, which calls for constructing the entire project from Princeton Ave. to the city limits, but cutting the pavement width from 36 to 24 feet.

Under this proposal, the city's share would be $350,000 — still $20,000 over the figure the city has advised would represent its "maximum participation."

Alternate Plan 3 calls for constructing the 36-foot pavement, as originally planned, but reducing the length of the project by 1,800 feet. This project is estimated at $673,000.

The revised estimates were submitted at the city's request after Council determined it would be unable to furnish the city's 50 per cent share of an $846,780 job for construction of a 36-foot pavement and drainage system from Princeton Ave. to the city limits.

Would Lead Nation Into Retreat

President Attacks Some Of Goldwater's Policies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—President Kennedy has taken sharp issue with some of the foreign policy ideas advanced by Sen. Barry Goldwater. Kennedy said these and other proposals backed by some conservatives would lead the nation into a "dangerous world of retreat—not of strength."

Kennedy did not mention by name the Arizona Republican who may be his GOP opponent in the 1964 presidential campaign. But he included some Goldwater policies in a catalogue of what he termed unacceptable proposals advanced by ultraconservatives.

In a major address Thursday night before a full house of 8,000 at the historic Mormon Tabernacle, Kennedy argued that these policies would be "fatal to our national security" and "invite a Communist expansion."

Without question, Kennedy in this speech went farther than ever before toward challenging Goldwater. But he went beyond that and took issue with the whole political force often labeled "the radical right."

He did so in a state where conservative sentiment, always strong, has seemed on the rise. The President contended that under the policies of his administration "the Communist offensive has been thwarted and turned back in recent months."

He insisted the gains could be lost by a return to conservative attitudes which he likened to those of the McKinley era.

In particular the President criticized proposals to break off diplomatic relations "with all states whose principles we dislike," to withhold aid from countries "whose governments are run differently from our own" and to resume atmospheric nuclear testing.

Kennedy summed up his response to those who would abandon the United Nations, end foreign aid, resume atmospheric nuclear tests, and cut diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union by saying:

"In world affairs as in all other aspects of life, the days of the quiet past are gone forever."

And with the help of present policies, he contended, "the Communist offensive has been thwarted and turned back in recent months."

This was the most important speech Kennedy has made during his 10,000-mile Western tour. And he delivered it in a state—and in a Rocky Mountain region—where conservative sentiment has seemed on the rise.

The President's schedule today was another heavy one, starting with a Salt Lake City airport talk dedicating the $66-million Flaming Gorge Dam miles away near the Wyoming border.

400 To 500 'Soldiers' Of Genovese

Convicted Slayer Begins Testimony In Senate's Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turncoat gangster Joseph Valachi testified today that Vito Genovese, his former boss in a New York crime syndicate, commands an underworld army of 400 to 500 "soldiers" sworn to a life of lawlessness.

Valachi, a convicted murderer and narcotics racketeer, was before the Senate Investigations subcommittee as a star witness in its massive new probe of organized crime.

A heavy guard of plainclothes U.S. marshals was in the room to make sure nothing happens to Valachi. The underworld reportedly has marked him for death as a stool pigeon and put a $100,000 price on his head.

Genovese is under prison sentence now as a narcotics racketeer, but nevertheless reportedly still runs the mob.

Valachi, a neat figure in a dark gray suit, appeared to be tense as he started his testimony. But the tension seemed to drain away as the 60-year-old hoodlum launched into his story under questioning by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., then by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

He said he was a member of the syndicate's ruling power, the secret criminal society known to its members as La Cosa Nostra, and specifically a member of a unit of the syndicate in New York City headed by Genovese.

He said each unit is ruled by a boss, underboss, and lieutenant, with the rank-and-file members known as soldiers.

Asked about the size of Genovese's underworld army of soldiers, Valachi replied: "Vito Genovese has 450 — in and around that. It could be 500."

"That's the family I belonged to," Valachi added.

Brighton Man Drowns In Underwater Tests

NEW BRIGHTON — A Brighton Township man was drowned Thursday night in the YMCA pool here after insisting on continuing with an underwater endurance test despite the urging of other swimmers to get out of the water.

Described as "a strong and experienced swimmer," Roland F. Kenah, 27, was pronounced dead at the pool when other swimmers realized that he had been underwater too long.

Coroner John D. Colavincenzo said an autopsy showed Mr. Kenah had drowned, presumably from exhaustion.

Mr. Kenah had just completed swimming 40 laps, about half a mile, when he started his underwater endurance test, chiefly swimming but at times just remaining motionless under the water.

Hurricane Weakening But Still Dangerous

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP) — Erratic hurricane Edith weakened somewhat early today as it roared up between the western end of Puerto Rico and the neighboring Dominican Republic. It still packed a dangerous punch of winds, rain and stormy seas.

Winds of 100 miles an hour at the hurricane's core slackened to 75 miles, while storm tides as high as eight feet above normal dropped to four to six feet above normal.

Fire Fighters May Call Aid Of Bulldozer

Stubborn Blaze In Penn. Ave. Ext. Breaks Out Again

Area volunteer fire departments are considering the possibility of using an Ohio Forestry Division bulldozer in event of a new outbreak of a brush fire in a virtually inaccessible area of Liverpool Township above Pennsylvania Ave. Ext.

The fire, which started Wednesday afternoon as the result of a blaze which got away from a resident, has broken out two more times and nearly 80 volunteers from four volunteer departments have been battling the stubborn blaze for approximately 15 hours. It has covered approximately 20 to 25 acres.

The bulldozer would be used to clear a path for equipment and could ditch the area surrounding the fire in order to cut off the flames, William Smit, assistant chief of the Liverpool East department, explained.

A fire watch on the area was ordered Thursday night after the latest outbreak, Smit said. Homer Cronin, assistant chief in charge of Liverpool West and an area fire warden, was instructed to establish the watch.

Despite thousands of gallons of water, some of which firemen had to lug up the 80-degree slope from Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. in Indian tanks, the fire continued to break out in the area which Smit termed "tinder dry."

He explained there's an inch-deep deposit of dead leaves and grass with the flames burning underneath the top layer unchecked by the water.

The fire also is burning inside trees with flaming material dropping.

Well Failure Probed At Wellsville School

Workmen were on the job today attempting to uncover the source of trouble in a well serving the Fairview School at Hillcrest in the Wellsville public school system.

The water supply failed and the school was closed today. Supt. Lowell B. Myers said today it is not known where the trouble exists. He said either the pumping equipment failed or the water source has dissipated.

He added it is hoped that the 173 pupils in Grades 1 through 6 will be able to return to classes Monday morning.

Driver Stops For Dog And 2 Cars Crash

19 In Western Pa. Post $1,000 Bonds In Federal Arrests

An East End man's auto was struck from the rear Thursday afternoon when he halted to avoid striking a dog, police reported.

The 1956 four-door sedan of John Bell, 38, of 1160 Harker Ave. was struck from the rear at 3:42 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Sylvan St. by a 1962 four-door sedan operated by Charles Burke, 47, of Lee St., officers said.

There was damage to the left rear of Bell's car and the front of Burke's auto, owned by the Smith & Phillips Co. of Washington St., officers said.

Burke was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Burke is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing Monday morning.

Bell told police he halted his auto to avoid striking a dog, then his car was hit from the rear by Burke's.

Another mishap at 7:49 p.m. yesterday at St. Clair Ave. and Walnut St., involved a 1957 sedan driven by Eileen Ruth McGaffie, 36, of 817 Orchard Grove Ave. and a 1952 sedan operated by Margaret Ann Brewer, 29, of 177 Haywood St., Beechwood, police said.

The North Side woman said she was driving downgrade on St. Clair and attempting to turn left onto Walnut St. when her car was struck by the Beechwood woman's auto, proceeding from Walnut onto St. Clair.

The Beechwood woman said she halted on Walnut St. for a stop sign, looked both ways, then proceeded, striking the McGaffie car. There was damage to the left rear quarter panel and hubcap of the McGaffie car, police said.

South Viet Nam's First Lady 'Cold Shoulder' Awaits Mrs. Nhu On U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials have decided on a policy of chill correctness—the polite cold shoulder—for dealing with Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu when she arrives in the United States.

"Nobody wants to get involved in the shouting match with a pretty woman," one diplomat said in commenting on the bitterly critical First Lady of South Viet Nam. "You can't win anything that way."

The rejoinder made Thursday by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to Mrs. Nhu's attack on U.S. servicemen fighting communism in her country was prompted by morale considerations rather than by any readiness to engage in public debate with her, informants here said.

Mrs. Nhu, wife of the powerful brother of South Viet Nam's bachelor president, Ngo Dinh Diem, had denounced what she called junior officers of the U.S. military mission for "acting like little soldiers of fortune."

Lodge said in Saigon that the Americans are engaged in a struggle with Communist guerrilla forces and "should be thanked and not insulted."

"These junior officers are risking their lives every day," he said. "It is incomprehensible to me how anyone can speak so cruelly."

GOP Head Praises Rhodes, Bliss In Steubenville Talk

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Verbal brickbats at the Kennedy administration and a plea for party unity were the highlights of a speech Thursday night by Republican National Chairman William E. Miller at a fund-raising dinner.

"We have the strength to win and the issues to win in 1964," Miller told about 650 people in the Community Arena. Also present at the dinner, sponsored by the Eastern Ohio Republican State Finance Committee, was Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Miller praised Rhodes and Ray Bliss, the state chairman. He said "the eyes of the entire nation have been drawn to Columbus where Gov. Rhodes has already made his mark as a state executive of the highest caliber."

Miller called Ohio "once again a real bastion of Republican strength in the Midwest." He predicted a clean sweep in Ohio for Republicans in 1964, adding "if our fellow-Republicans elsewhere adopt the same guidelines, we'll sweep the nation."

Switching to the national Democratic administration, the Republican leader said:

"The President stated on Aug. 13, 1962, that there were 400,000 workers being retrained under his Federal Work Retraining Program, when, as a matter of fact, the program hadn't even been put into operation."

Gov. Rhodes, who earlier in the day visited Warren and Niles with his Cabinet, also spoke at the fund-raising dinner. He reviewed his meetings throughout the state and said there will not be an income tax in Ohio as long as he has any say so in the matter. He appealed for support for issue No. 1 in the November election. That issue provides for the issuance of $250 million in bonds.

Rhodes Discloses

Area Highway Plan

Masheter visited the Steubenville area several weeks ago to observe highway needs.

Gov. Rhodes visited Warren Thursday also and told a crowd of 1,500 that "the most important task we face in Ohio is jobs for the unemployed."

Moving Deeper Into The Battle

East Liverpool's bid for new industry in the sharp competition not only throughout Ohio but throughout the nation has been given a cutting edge with the formation of the Industrial Development Corp.

Although this area may lack sizable sections of flat land for large-scale industry, we have plenty of water from the Ohio River, vital highway and railroad connections and a key location in the center of the Tri-State market.

The new corporation is headed by capable officers, men with experience and a deep concern for the economic future of the city. But the drive for new industry shall not be shouldered alone by these men.

The success of the campaign for more jobs and more local revenue will need the support and cooperation of everyone in the city and neighboring areas — and not just token agreement that "something should be done".

The general improvement of the whole community — better streets, homes, stores, schools, recreation facilities, cultural programs — may have to come before industry considers East Liverpool or its environs as a site for new investment.

Hundreds of other cities from New England to the Pacific Coast already have had industrial development groups hard at work for years, with some very appealing inducements.

We have just entered the competition in earnest. We have a lot of work to do, but we have a lot to work with—if we work together.

The Constant Quest

The workshop scheduled Monday for faculty members in the Columbiana County school system serves as another reminder of the continuing efforts of most teachers and administrators in this district to improve the process of education.

No conscientious member of any profession is truly satisfied with his or her ability and knowledge, for the very nature of change and improvement in methods and service demand constant readjustments.

A special commendation is deserved by teachers who strive to broaden the knowledge of their subject and methods of instruction apart from these workshops and the long hours and hard work spent outside the classrooms. Just as any private or public employee rates a pat on the back for helping improve himself.

Better instructors mean a better education for our youngsters.

Santa Claus Survived

The argument that's supposed to button up the mouths of tax-cut opponents goes like this.

New Frontiersmen are a sophisticated bunch who know what they're doing. They have access to inside information. When they say the national economy needs a tax cut they know what they're talking about and their critics are speaking out of deep ignorance.

This also is the opinion of many businessmen conditioned by experience to believe anything that adds to earnings must be good, whereas anything that takes away from earnings must be bad. The businessmen and the politicians can agree that in this sort of thing the people are too dumb to know what's good for them.

Businessmen permitted to ease up on tax obligations will be encouraged to expand their enterprises in the long run, explain the New Frontiersmen. Their acolytes in the business community explain the same thing. More jobs will be created. More taxes will be forthcoming. Presto! Balanced budget.

This is sophisticated economics, they point out. It is something like the pilot in the old days pushing forward on the "stick" to bring a plane out of a dive. The way to keep from going into a dive is to go into debt faster. The United States can "spend its way into prosperity," just as the New Dealers once said it could.

ALL OF THIS might be true. Most of us aren't sophisticated about public finance or business finance to know. We must take somebody else's word in these areas of mystery.

But whatever the sophisticates try to do should be done in terms of our reactions to what they are doing. No matter how cute their schemes may be for accelerating the affluent life for the employed and brightening prospects for the unemployed, if we don't understand what they're doing the scheme will be a bust.

The House has pushed through a tax cut with so many votes to spare it was no contest. It now appears that the only thing which could halt a tax cut in the Senate is the crusty opposition of Virginia's Sen. Byrd, who might maneuver the bill into the 1964 session of Congress. This would not kill Santa Claus, but it would keep him from coming down the chimney in time for the presidential election. Sen. Byrd might do it.

IT SHOULD SURPRISE no one that a tax cut has been whooped through the House. All that's surprising is how many members (155 against a majority bloc of 271) stood up for the principle that cutting taxes is foolhardy when the government is running in the red.

The trick if the Senate also whoops through a tax cut will be to convince millions of us naive babes in the woods that the New Frontiersmen really know what they are doing.

They may win their way in Congress, where politicians traditionally itch to cut taxes, but if they don't win public confidence they could cut America's throat to boot.

Check, Doublecheck

The city's firemen have offered to inspect homes for possible hazards in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week which will begin Oct. 6.

There should be plenty of takers, especially with winter just around the corner and the danger of fires about to mount in proportion to the heating demands.

Even before the firemen arrive for their inspection, however, there are plenty of things the average resident can do on his own in the interest of safety.

A fireman can point out trouble spots that the inexperienced might overlook, but most people should know when paper and rags are stored where paper and rags shouldn't be; when other highly flammable material rests under their roof; when the heating system needs a thorough check; when electrical wiring is faulty and needs repair; when both attic and basement contain trash that could go up in flames.

By all means take advantage of the fire department's offer to inspect your home, but also make your own inspection in the meantime. Between the two of you things can be made shipshape to the point where the chances of a damaging fire are reduced to a minimum.

By Truman Twill

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: We have examined your notion that men of judgment take trouble-makers into account when they make plans, in the same way they try to ward off amoebic dysentery, athlete's foot, barber's itch and the common cold.

Your aunt and I have thought about this in the same connection that crossed your mind — the accusation by some Southerners that Communists are solely to blame for the violence that has given segregationists a black eye.

It would be a miracle if Communists passed up this chance to get in their dirty work. We can expect them to show wherever trouble is brewing. They are the camp followers of hatred and violence — the vultures of strife.

They are ubiquitous, like the ants that show up at picnics. We are confident that if you had a picnic at the North Pole there would be ants.

Wherever you find people milling around in fury, there will be Communists egging them on.

Communists?

THIS WOULD BEAR looking into, because Communists and troublemakers are the same thing. All Communists are troublemakers; that's for certain. But not all troublemakers are Communists, even though that is the name we usually give them.

A few go by other names — Nazis, for one. We have some of them, too. And we've had Anarchists, Syndicalists, Socialists and so on, all out from the same cloth.

They all shared an urge to topple the existing order and set up a new one in which they would give orders. They were the alternative to the status quo.

We've heard you say that people who say people who believe in and practice the precepts of Christianity seem to be born that way; that loving your fellow man is natural for some humans, unnatural for others. We think it's the same way with Communism.

It is the currently popular name for something as old as the human race — negativism. And this must be taken into account by men of judgment when they make plans.

Whatever causes people to be violent will create circumstances favorable to negativists who exploit violence for their own purposes. Resentments sooner or later will flame up in civil disorder, fanned by chronic trouble-makers.

This is what has happened in the case of Negroes. This is why the flames are crackling around our ankles now. Communists did not cause it, contrary to the allegations of middleheads who blame Communists for everything. But it was a certainty that Communists would take advantage of what the middleheads let happen.

They not only let it happen; they made it happen. For that lapse of judgment they must be held historically responsible, in the South, in the North, in the East and in the West.

We know enough not to drink water when we travel in countries where the water is not fool-proof. But we haven't learned yet not to expose people to the infection of human violence.

Remember? Regards to all. COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

This 'n That

There is a stream in South America that runs both ways — back and forth and up and down. This is the Cassiquiare Canal, a natural waterway which, varying with the rains, flows now into the Orinoco Basin and now into the Amazon. At the flood tide of the Amazon it flows into the Orinoco, while at the flood tide of the Orinoco it flows into the Amazon.

The least popular course with American high school students, according to one recent poll, is mathematics.

Russia Reveals A Will To Avoid War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Since the United States and the Soviet Union now have ratified the treaty partially limiting nuclear tests, there can be no denying the prevalence of a widespread belief that the world has witnessed a manifestation of the will to avoid war.

In Washington, the opposition to the David Lawrence treaty was significant and constructive and will serve as a continuous warning that skepticism as to the peaceful intentions of the Soviet has not been removed.

The circumstances surrounding the making of the treaty, however, are still a mystery. The motives of the Soviet Union are not clear. The Western World has for so many years encountered fluctuations in Soviet policy, especially as agreements have been brushed aside, that many observers find it difficult today to attribute virtue to the Moscow government.

There are, however, some basic considerations which cannot be overlooked, and they tend to support the theory that the world may really be embarking on a course that will avoid a big war.

Accidents, of course, can happen and little wars can suddenly provoke big ones, but the reasons why Moscow will seek to maintain peace for a long time to come currently outweigh any factors that might possibly bring on a war.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, few Americans realize the intensity of feeling of the Soviet people about war itself. The figures vary, but it has been estimated that 20 million persons were killed, seriously wounded, maimed or lost all their possessions in the holocaust of World War II.

A people who have undergone such great suffering are more apprehensive about another war than are the American people, particularly since in the two world wars the territory of the United States was not bombed or devastated.

Public opinion in the Soviet Union today is unquestionably anti-war. Even a government which wields dictatorial power is constantly fearful of an internal uprising.

It's recalled that the Bolsheviks in 1917 had no organized military force but that the czar's army itself revolted. Every dictator remembers how quickly the uprising swept an autocratic government out of power overnight.

Ever since 1917 the Russians have been fearful of war. In the 1920s, Russian foreign policy was geared to war prevention. In the 1930s Russia's diplomatic policy was to stay out of entangling alliances. Yet, when war was imminent in 1939, Stalin did make a pact with Hitler, but the basic purpose was to stay out of the war and profit afterwards by the disruption of the countries that did go to war.

By 1941 the Russians nevertheless had to enter World War II to defend themselves against Hitler's attack.

Today, the passion of the Soviet scientists to gain superiority for the Soviets in the nuclear field has probably not abated, but Nikita Khrushchev is too smart a politician to believe that he could stay in power if he led his people to the brink of nuclear war.

HE KNOWS that the allegedly high purposes of the Communist ideology has expounded could lose popular support if the economic life of the country is impaired.

Shortages of food create unrest and lack of opportunity stunts initiative. The simple fact is that the men in the Kremlin have more to gain nowadays by a course of peace than by war.

Even with the best of intentions, however, the Khrushchev regime could bring on a war for the Soviets are playing with fire all over the world. Billions of dollars that could be spent for really productive purposes are being used up in the clandestine operations of the "cold war" in Africa, in Southeast Asia and in Cuba and other Latin American countries.

Maybe the President's forceful stand in Cuba last year has left in the Kremlin an impression that the United States will not necessarily retreat if there is a serious act of aggression which could lead to nuclear war.

Theoretically, the United States will not strike the "first blow" but some military men differ on this point and say that a deterrent action may have to be taken somehow in an emergency to intercept a "first blow." This makes bluffing by Khrushchev a perilous adventure.

THE SUM TOTAL of the debates and discussions inside both the Soviet and American governments is that war means mutual suicide. An alternative course has undoubtedly been gaining acceptance steadily in Moscow. A "first step" has been taken in the agreement to ban certain nuclear tests.

The next five years probably will be used up with discussions of more agreements to help prevent war. But even if these are not consummated — for it takes years to win a Soviet assent — the trend is toward finding an equilibrium.

This will not satisfy the captive peoples in Eastern Europe or peoples inside the Soviet Union. It's bound eventually to bring challenges and some near revolutions but, at the moment, it does look as if the awfulness of a nuclear war, plus the tremendous expense of big armament, is producing a period of mutual forbearance.

It may not accurately be described as "peace" but more realistically as an avoidance of war.

Labor Fight Stymies Nuclear Ship Voyage

By VICTOR RIESEL

A fight between two unions is battering the American image across the world at a time when foreign pummeling of the U. S. has become an international pastime.

These two American unions of rival ship engineers are being investigated by a three-man trouble-shooting congressional committee which has run into some "incomprehensible" and "weird" developments.

These are words used by the investigation's chief, Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., in a recent discussion with this reporter.

As a result of this labor war between two ALE-CIO unions, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the Brotherhood of Marine Officers, the $80 million government-owned nuclear ship Savannah has been laid up for almost five months and may never sail unless the U. S. Navy takes her over from private operation.

At this very moment the Savannah was scheduled to be on a round-the-world cruise to prove that the United States was the first to use nuclear power for peaceful pursuits.

THIS UNION feud has tied up other ships, the delays of which cost America considerable prestige in Europe, South America and as far off as East Pakistan.

The ships were delayed or completely abandoned their voyages because of picketing and counter-picketing. If one union's members were aboard, the other picketed.

For example, a freighter called the S. S. Maximus had Brotherhood of Marine Officers' people aboard in New Orleans in mid-July. The Maximus was scheduled to sail for Chittagong, East Pakistan, with a relief cargo of 10,000 tons of surplus cooking oils. This cargo was desperately needed by the Pakistanis because of devastating floods.

The U. S. promised to rush the foodstuffs. The Maximus was the only U. S. freighter available at the time. But the Maximus did not sail. It was picketed by the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association.

A MONTH EARLIER the same ship, hit by the same internal labor war, was delayed 11 days in the port of Philadelphia. Aboard it was the last of the ransom cargo due to Cuba. On its return it was to pick up the political prisoners Castro had agreed to release.

Though the three-man House of Representatives' task force will spend much of its time on the Savannah case, Pucinski says that it will look into the feud on the other ships as well.

They will go down to Galveston, where the Savannah has been paralyzed since May 6. It was on that day that the Marine Engineers shut down the reactor without orders. However, the rest of the crew stayed aboard.

Then on May 9, the engineers shut off the water, lighting and galley and refrigeration services, although these services were not hooked up to the nuclear reactor. They were supplied by power from shore lines.

THE GOVERNMENT charged that "this latter action was unquestionably taken as a means of harassment, forcing the deck officers and other crew personnel to leave their quarters aboard the ship."

These Marine Engineers, mostly under 30 years of age, had been earning some $14,000 to $22,000 a year. But they were peeved at a decision which would have permanently given deck officers a higher wage—though there would not be any ceiling on the engineers' salaries. The young men had been trained by the government at a cost to the public of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

On May 13, the company operating the Savannah dismissed the engineers. After some complications the government transferred the operation of the nuclear craft to another private company.

Along with this new operator came another union, the rival Brotherhood of Marine Officers. Now its members are being trained in nuclear physics and reactor technology — again at public expense.

WHAT PUCINSKI wants to know is — will the Marine Engineers picket the Savannah when it is ready to sail with a rival engine room crew next May?

"We're going up to New York," Pucinski said, "to talk to the leaders of the two unions at their national headquarters there. We want to get the Savannah on the high seas before May if we can. But will there be new obstructions?"

Angrily the congressman said: "This borders on a national tragedy. Here we have a tremendous opportunity to show the world that we mean what we say about peaceful nuclear energy and that we are a peaceful nation."

"We spend $80 million to build this ship. Now she sits in dry dock because of a labor dispute. It is a tragedy indeed."

Kennedy On Isolationism

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON President Kennedy, who is against isolationism abroad, doesn't practice it at home, either. The results aren't always happy but there are results.

He described isolationism at Salt Lake City Thursday as a "policy of retreat" to which this country can never return.

He put it this way: "We cannot adopt a policy which says that, if something does not happen or others do not act exactly how and when we wish, we will pick up our marbles and go home."

But that's the way he also operates at home with both Democratic and Republican politicians when they disagree with him, frustrate him, or slaughter one of his programs.

Members of both parties have stood in his way time and again but, like President Eisenhower, he avoids personal quarrels with them. He doesn't attack them or try to punish them, at least in public.

How much this policy is original with Kennedy and how much he owes to Eisenhower for it is not clear. But he saw Eisenhower, following this policy, get overwhelmingly re-elected and remain a highly popular president.

And Kennedy is going to run for re-election next year.

His policy in dealing with his frustrators seems to be: If not today, then better luck tomorrow. And sometimes it pays off handsomely. A good example is Rep. Wilbur Mills, Democratic chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Last year Mills was the biggest single roadblock to Kennedy's major program of medical care for the aged. One of Kennedy's aides was asked why the President didn't go after Mills to try to whip him into line.

The aide shrugged. "Well, he's against us on this. But he's been a help to us in the past on other things and he'll be a help to us again on something else."

Kennedy was so completely blocked on the medical care program that he didn't try to push for it this year. This year, starting out, he made his biggest program a call for a tax cut.

The prestige and influence of this Democrat from Arkansas was undoubtedly a very big factor in the tax cut bill's success in the House.

Kennedy has followed outside of Congress this same policy of not angering people who can be of help to him. From the very beginning of his presidency he has retained a pretty good relationship with Eisenhower.

The latter has supported him more than once on major problems.

The two men have been critical of each other's performance from time to time, but there has been no harshness, and no break, an extreme contrast to the sour, non-existent relationship between Eisenhower and former President Harry S. Truman.

While Kennedy was running into opposition this year in the Senate on the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, Eisenhower gave him a big helping hand by coming out in support of it. This could not but help influence Republicans.

The absence of conflict between the two men can't be given as the reason for Eisenhower's approval of the treaty, but Kennedy has avoided any conflict that might ever influence his predecessor's thinking.

Nor, to give another example, has Kennedy closed any doors on his relations with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon although there is no chummy relationship between them.

Nixon, beaten for the presidency by Kennedy by a squeak, has been critical of Kennedy. But the President hasn't turned any guns on Nixon. And Nixon, too, supported the test ban.

Letter To Editor

I was wondering if someone could tell me what must be done to get some repairs done to the curb on Shadyside Ave.

I have talked to the street department, even the mayor, but nothing has been done. We can't see where it is asking too much to have it repaired and we don't think we should have to pay for it ourselves since we pay city tax. The curb just came apart in places. No one stood there and broke it out.

School Budget Airing

To Be Finished Today

LISBON — Auditor Kenneth Bell said the Columbiana County Budget commission's hearings with boards of education in the county will be completed today.

Most of the boards will have trouble in 1964 when the county's revaluation of real estate taxes will lower funds they have been receiving from the state foundation program, he said.

Some boards will require more revenue and five of the 11 are asking for additional levies, while others are asking renewals.

Most of the boards have been borrowing money to continue operations mainly because of the lateness in collecting real estate taxes as the result of the reappraisal which became effective this year for the 1962 taxes.

ping off at the top and setting the fire in a new section.

Liverpool East firemen received the first call at 4:05 p.m. Wednesday with 18 men and the pumper going to Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. They were aided by five men and tanker from the Glenmoor department, eight from Liverpool West and men and a truck from Calcutta.

Because of the steep slope and the weight of the Indian tanks, firemen had to virtually crawl up the slope on their hands and knees to reach the blaze, Smit explained.

They remained at the scene until 9:30 p.m. and had been home only a short time when the blaze broke out again at 10:30 p.m. with 11 men from the Dixonville division responding.

They continued fighting the blaze until 12:30 a.m. yesterday. Charles (Red) Hephner of Wellsville, a Forestry Division investigator, went to the area to aid in the second blaze.

When the fire broke out anew at 2:30 p.m. yesterday, Hephner and the East pumper went out to the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., about two miles from the fire, and then followed to a dead-end section of Stagecoach Rd.

From there, firemen had to cut trees and hack brush in order for Hephner's truck and the department's pumper to reach the fire area.

Fourteen men from Dixonville, nine from Glenmoor and eight from LaCroft responded to the alarm with six men from La-Croft arriving later to relieve the initial six. They continued their attempts to quell the blaze until 8:30 p.m.

Smit said the blaze started when a small fire he was using got away from W. W. Kohler, 2230 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext.

The Forestry Division will reimburse the fire fighters at a rate of 75 cents an hour plus mileage for the equipment used.

City firemen were called on the fire at 4 p.m. Wednesday but returned to the station about 30 minutes later because the blaze was in the township.

Another day of fair weather with high temperatures spelled increased fire hazards for the area woods and brushland.

A total of six district brush fires have been recorded at the fire observation tower near West Point since the tower was placed in operation early this week. None has been serious.

Continued lack of rainfall and increasing dryness in the woodlands brought a renewed appeal from area fire officials for caution against inadvertently igniting a serious blaze.

Showers had been forecast several times since the current dry spell began about two weeks ago and the Ohio weatherman is trying again — predicting widely scattered showers late Sunday and Monday for a total precipitation of two tenths of an inch.

The forecast is for another warm day with a high of 76 to 82 degrees and a low of only 53 to 57 tonight. The downtown had a moderate 47 at 6 a.m.

Saturday will be a little cooler.

Weirton Area Fire

Fought Until Darkness

WEIRTON — Volunteer firemen battled a brush fire until darkness Thursday evening on Swearingen Hill along State Route 2 between here and New Cumberland.

Firemen were called to the scene at 12:06 Thursday afternoon. The New Cumberland department sent six men to help keep the flames from spreading to homes in the vicinity. There was no apparent property loss.

Auto Agency Reports Vandalism And Theft

Several new instances of vandalism and theft were reported to police today by the management of Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave.

The company said a thief jacked up an auto on its used car lot sometime Thursday night or early today and removed an 8-00 x-14 tire and wheel.

Within the last few days, a BB was fired through a window on the south side of its building, the firm reported. A terminal post was broken off a new battery in a 1957 model station wagon and a tire and rim were taken from a customer's car which had been left for repair, the company said.

Verdict Of Coroner's Jury Names Assailant

WEIRTON — The death of Willie Fair, about 40, Wednesday resulted from infection and hemorrhage caused by a stab wound in the abdomen from a knife in the hands of Simon Feaster, a coroner's jury ruled at an inquest Thursday.

The stabbing occurred Sept. 21. Feaster has been bound over to the Grand Jury on a charge of felonious assault. The inquest was held by a coroner's jury named by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland, Hancock County coroner.

Penalties Given 6 Canfield Youths For Egg Tossing

LISBON — Six Canfield area youths, aged 16-18, accused of throwing eggs Aug. 22 in the Washingtonville and Leetonia area were penalized Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin after all admitted their part in the incident.

The driver license of each of the youths was suspended for two months, each must pay $125 for damages, observe a 9 p.m. curfew for four months, present themselves to the village halls in Washingtonville and Leetonia Saturday at 10 a.m. and apologize to the persons at whom they threw eggs and then report each week to their probation officer.

Police Chief Robert Bertolette of Washingtonville, along with Chief Allen Gibson of Leetonia, made the investigation and located the youths. Bertolette filed the charges.

Improvement To Be Sought By Midland

Midland Council Thursday night took steps for the possible improvement of Route 168 north, asking that the project be included in the Beaver County program for 1964.

On motion of Councilman Ray Presutti, Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, secretary, was instructed to write the Beaver County Planning Commission and county commissioners concerning the improvement from Midland Ave. and Spring Ln. to the resurfaced section on Midland Heights.

The recreation committee said that it is planning for ice skating rinks at the 1st and 10th St. playgrounds, and that bids for the concrete bases probably will be opened at the meeting Oct. 10.

Bids of the Donora Construction Co. and the George Stuten Co. to construct a 48-inch storm sewer under Railroad Ln., between 6th and 7th Sts., were turned over to the law and finance committee with authority to act.

Pete Vuich of 84 11th St. was granted permission to cut his curbing, under the supervision of the borough engineer, R. E. Steebner. A letter was received from the Midland Junior Women's Club, thanking Council for use of the swimming pool for annual party for the Beaver County Children's Home youngsters.

A bill of $526.20 from the Beaver Asphalt & Construction Co. was ordered paid. William Vinovich, president, presided for the brief session.

Burglar Obtains $7 From Garage

Police are continuing investigation of a burglary discovered Thursday at the Tad Pontiac garage, 1273 Pennsylvania Ave., in which an intruder obtained $7 in change after forcing open a cash register.

The intruder broke a window on the east side of the building by hurling a large stone, then reached through the opening to manipulate the lock, police said. Entering a storage room, he then went to the auto agency's office. Using a screwdriver taken from the shop, he forced open the register and removed $2 in dimes, $4 in nickels and $1 in pennies.

The entry was timed between 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and 9:30 a.m. Thursday. It was discovered by Miss Betty Willis, a bookkeeper. The owner was listed as Dominic Ludovici of Phoenix Ave., Chester.

3 Legionnaires Get State Cards

Three officers of Midland American Legion Post 533 received officers' cards from Pennsylvania Department headquarters at the meeting Thursday night.

The cards were presented to Leon Anderson, commander; Willie J. Jones, adjutant; and Starling Johnson, service officer, by Roosevelt Suggs, chaplain.

Plans were made to participate in a Halloween party with Post 481 Oct. 31 at the Steelworkers Union Hall. The post also accepted an invitation to participate in a Veterans' Day parade Nov. 11 in Rochester.

Joseph Lomba was appointed by Anderson as assistant chairman of the membership and activities committees.

The post went on record in expressing sympathy to families of Birmingham Negro children killed in the church bombing and racial strife.

Development Group's Executive Unit Named

The first Executive Board has been announced for the newly-formed Western Beaver County Area Development Committee, of which John Joseph of Ohioville is president. Board members are: Steve Germusa and Marvin Bahm of Midland; Clyde C. Knight and Earl Rankin of Industry; Joseph and Louis Poff of Ohioville; John Coombs and William Burris of Shippingport; Norman Brooks and Don Laughlin of Hookstown; and Glenn Mackall of Georgetown. Another member from Georgetown and two each from Glasgow Borough and Greene Township are to be named.

The group believes that Beaver County is badly in need of a Junior College or technical school since parents of hundreds of students cannot afford four years of college.

An ideal site recommended for the college is the old TB Sanatorium or Beaver County Home Annex in Center Township. The vacant buildings are suitable for conversion to classrooms and state funds are available for such a project.

The junior college with two-year courses would cost less than regular four years at major colleges and would afford students the opportunity to live at home. Skilled and technical workers could be trained.

It was suggested that the education committee contact H. C. Elder, county superintendent of schools.

Another possible project is to contact area Boards of Education, urging them to consult the Pennsylvania Economy League for studies on better operating procedures.

The group also discussed industrial development and the possibility of gathering data on Western Beaver County available for plant locations.

Joseph has submitted committee appointments to be announced after they have been confirmed. These include industrial development, transportation, by-laws, regional planning and zoning, public relations, refuse disposal, water distribution, recreation and open space planning, land use planning, education, thoroughfare planning, youth activities, Senior Citizens, urban renewal and development, community appraisal, emergency and disaster and public information. Finance and membership committees also were named.

The group will meet the fourth Tuesday of each month, rotating among the different boroughs. The Hookstown Grange will be contacted for use of the hall for the next meeting Oct. 22.

'Antiquing In Ohio' Topic For Coterie Club Program

The home of Mrs. Joseph W. Cooper of North St., which is enhanced by many valuable antiques, was an appropriate setting for the guest speaker's topic, "Antiquing in Ohio," at a meeting of the Coterie Club Wednesday night.

The 1963-64 programs are in conjunction with the group's 25th anniversary.

The speaker, Mrs. Donald Dunlop of Winterville, a former charter member and school teacher, was introduced by Miss Jerry Ann Horger, a member of the program committee.

Mrs. Dunlop explained how to shop for better antiques and spoke briefly on one of her hobbies—restoring old furniture. She also displayed pieces of china and told of their history.

As members answered to roll call, led by Miss Horger, they displayed items of old pottery made in Ohio.

The program theme was also used on the buffet table arrangement, which featured a wheat-colored linen cloth. The centerpiece was an ironstone compote in white, filled with fresh purple grapes and an arrangement of wheat. To complete the setting, antique iron figurines, white tapers in ironstone holders and bouquets of autumn flowers, were used.

About 23 attended and Mrs. Charles Waggoner was co-hostess. Brief business was conducted by Mrs. Glen A. Wilson, president.

A smorgasbord dinner will be featured Oct. 9 at the home of Mrs. Eugene Hall of Armstrong Ln. The social committee will assist.

Next meeting is Oct. 22 at the church.

Mrs. Leona Swiger, president of the auxiliary of the American Legion Post 4, named standing committee chairmen at a meeting Tuesday night at the post home. They include:

Mrs. Irene Hughey, historian; Mrs. Grace A. Smith, reporter, rehabilitation, and Pan-American; Miss Jane Marie Smith, child welfare and junior activities; Mrs. Helen Jones, Civil Defense and community service; Mrs. Elsie Smith, national security; and Mrs. Virginia Stoffel, Americanism. The president will serve as legislative chairman.

Reports included Mrs. Grace A. Smith, secretary; Mrs. Stoffel, treasurer; and Mrs. Grace Rock, membership, who said 27 have paid dues for the 1963-64 term.

Drill prizes were won by Mrs. Grace Smith and Mrs. Grace Pethel.

Next meeting is Oct. 8.

Mrs. Mabel Waggle of Pennsylvania Ave. will be hostess to the Dorcas Circle of the Grace United Presbyterian Church Tuesday night.

Mrs. Mabel Neal will have the Bible study and Mrs. Phyllis Conley, the missionary study.

ANGIONEUROTIC EDEMA

Q. Is there a cure for angioneurotic edema?

A. Angioneurotic edema (giant hives) is a condition in which there is marked swelling, usually about the face. Some cases are hereditary—others are due to allergy. The inciting agent (allergen) may be anything—food, pollen, a drug, or even mental stress. For example, a girl whose angioneurotic edema was being successfully suppressed by treatment, became engaged to be married. Her condition was kept under control until she had a quarrel with her fiance. Every subsequent lover's spat brought on giant hives.

LOSS OF TASTE AND SMELL

Q. I am 70 years old. About six months ago I lost my sense of taste and smell. Can anything be done to correct this condition?

A. Sudden loss of taste and smell can be due to disturbances in the nervous system which regulates these senses. In some instances severe infection in the sinus area may temporarily interfere with taste and smell. Thorough medical examination is indicated.

O'Rourke's Team Unbeaten . . .

Jack O'Rourke, former Beaver Local football coach, is off to a fast start as the new grid mentor at Jonathan Alder High School near Columbus.

O'Rourke's squad has posted three straight victories. And the first two were shutouts, something new to the Franklin County school.

Always one to capitalize on psychological aspects of the game, O'Rourke has initiated a new award, "Headhunter of the Week", in which the player who makes the most tackles wins the distinction. Assisting the former Wellsville athlete is Ray Russell, a former head coach at United Local in Hanover.

Williams On All-American Team . . .

WHEN East Liverpool meets Weirton here Oct. 25, the Potters will be facing an All-American.

Ron (Fritz) Williams, 6-2, 180-pound senior, better known for his astounding feats on the basketball court, was named on the All-District football team, an area which includes the eastern part of the United States and part of the south. The selections were made in "High School Football" magazine.

Williams, an end, was the standout in Weirton's victory over Steubenville Big Red last week when he returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown.

Viking Official Praises Tonic . . .

JOE THOMAS, personnel director of the Minnesota Vikings, visited Wheeling last Sunday night. His primary reason was to take a look at the Ironmen's quarterback Tom Kennedy.

The Viking official was quite disappointed when he learned that Kennedy would not play due to an injury. He was less disappointed, however, when Ivan Tonic, the ex-Midlandite, began his aerial show.

Thomas had words of praise for Tonic, who used to leave them for Pitt. All Tonic did that night was throw three touchdown passes and complete 14 of 29 attempts for a total of 322 yards in a 35-6 victory over Grand Rapids.

Bell Wins Illinois Open . . .

JACK BELL, formerly of East Palestine, added another title to his collection of golf crowns last week when he won the Illinois Open over the Knollwood Course in Chicago.

Jack, who is the club pro at the plush Medinah Club in Chicago, won the title by three strokes.

It marked the second time Bell has captured the Illinois crown the other being in 1960. He was second in 1962 and finished fifth last year.

In the winter months, Jack, who played briefly on the pro tour several years ago, is the pro at the Tubac Club near Tucson, Ariz. He and several other professional golfers pooled their earnings to finance the Tubac course.

Arnold Palmer (Mr. Golf) called Bell's Medinah Course one of the finest he has ever played.

Martin Sheerer and Bob Wolfe of East Liverpool, close friends of Bell, spent several days earlier this week at the Medinah course and shot several good rounds.

Slim Pickings . . .

OUR RECORD last week was 9 right and 5 wrong as several upsets dotted the local scene.

Tonight eight games are listed on the schedule, with four tilts Saturday. We will stick with the Potters for the fourth straight week, although Bob Hedmond's boys are coming off a tough game against Steubenville Central.

New Philly was as high as a kite for Martins Ferry last week, so a letdown can be expected. ELHS 14, New Philly 6.

Midland should pick up its second victory tonight when Wellsville invades Leopard stadium. Midland 20, Wellsville 6.

In other battles, Triadelphia 13, Oak Glen 0; East Palestine 14, Leetonia 8; Minerva 8, Columbiana 6; Farrell 20, Salem 6; Neville Island 26, South Side 6; Stanton Local 14, Springfield Local 6.

In Saturday's games, we like Beaver Local 14-6 over Jefferson Union; North Lima to stop Crestview 20-14; Lisbon to nip Poland 8-6, and Wayne over Southern Local 26-6.

WORLD SERIES prediction: The Dodgers in seven games with Koufax winning two contests against the Bombers from New York.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

AS FAR as we are concerned the Pittsburgh Pirates finished in last place this season. Who did they beat out? Houston and the New York Mets. Under the old eight-team setup the Buccos would have been hugging the cellar floor.

Pittsburgh has "clinched" eighth place some 25 games out of first and seven games behind the seventh-place Chicago Cubs.

LEAVING Pitt Stadium last Sunday, we remarked to a couple of friends, "I bet Guglielmi doesn't care if he ever sees a footbal again." Little did we know at the time that three days later the New York Giants quarterback would be traded to the San Francisco 49ers, then eventually retire.

The former Notre Dame quarterback spent most of the day on the seat of his pants eluding the hard-charging Steeler defense as Pittsburgh blanked the Giants 21-0.

TO MR. O'ROURKE of Wellsville, Beaver Local never played six-man football. When the school opened seven years ago 11-man football was started. At one time in this area, Salineville, Fairfield and New Waterford had six-man teams but that has been several years ago.

Injuries

Beavers Meet

JU In League

Tilt Saturday

Injuries in both camps mark the Wellsville - Midland battle at the Midland High School Stadium in one of eight battles on tap under the lights tonight.

Beaver Local marks time until Saturday night when the Beavers entertain Jefferson Union in a Buckeye Border Conference scrap. Beaver Local is fresh from defeating Springfield Local, 24-20 in a Conference game last week. Kickoff is at 8 p. m. at Beaver Local.

Midland's hard - running half-back Mike Krivosha is still slowed by a knee injury suffered in the Leopards loss to Beaver last Friday and is a doubtful starter for tonight's game.

Meanwhile Coach Ken Woods of Wellsville is having his troubles. Woods has been ill most of the week with flu and he will be playing tonight without junior ends Roger McLain and Pat Welch and possibly without Ron Daniels, junior halfback.

Woods also stated that sub quarterback Jeff MacLean is hobbled with a sprained ankle.

The Tiger coach will probably use Harry Thornton, a 140-pound sophomore in Daniels' place; Terry Grills, 165-pound sophomore in McLain's spot.

Midland will be seeking its second win in four outings after losing to East Liverpool and Beaver. Wellsville has yet to find the win column with defeats at the hands of Beaver, Lisbon and Tonto.

Oak Glen must worry about scoring a touchdown before thinking about victory since the Hancock County eleven has been held scoreless in its first three games.

Coach Bob Starkey's team has been unsuccessful in its first three starts losing to St. Mary's, Wellsburg and Weirton Madonna.

Triadelphia dropped its last start to New Martinsville by a 20-6 count.

Action blooms on the Tri-County scene where East Palestine, a winner over Sebring last week, invades Leetonia which was walloped by Louisville.

Columbiana, which took a 16-12 loss to Poland on the chin last week, finds itself up against it tonight traveling to Minerva.

Stanton Local, a disappointment so far with an 0-3 record, is given a slight edge to defeat Springfield Local. South Side 0-2 goes to Neville Island and Salem visits Farrell. (Pa.)

Undeated Lisbon goes after its fourth straight victory and second league win at Poland Saturday to round out the Tri-County schedule for the weekend.

Two other games Saturday finds Crestview, who upset Lowellville last week, visiting North Lima while undefeated Wayne travels to Southern Local.

The New Philadelphia coaching staff watched East Liverpool dispose of Steubenville Central Saturday night just 24 hours after the Quakers had played highly-regarded Martins Ferry to a 14-14 standstill.

The opinion of the staff, led by Al Christopher, New Philly's head mentor, was this: "We rate East Liverpool stronger than Martins Ferry. Ferry has the power; they grind out the yardage, but East Liverpool has more all-around speed in the backfield."

THE QUAKER coaching staff will learn what kind of judges they are tonight when New Philly and East Liverpool clash at New Philadelphia. The kickoff will be at 9 (East Liverpool time).

East Liverpool at this time last year hadn't won a game in three attempts, but tonight will be after its fourth straight victory, having ing defeated Beaver Local, Midland and Central.

IN ADDITION to a victory string, state recognition is at stake for the Potters who vaulted into an eighth-place spot in the first Associated Press poll this week, which places them among those teams that unranked squads like to knock off.

New Philly took the wind out of the sails of Martins Ferry last week when the Purple Riders came to town ranked third in the state.

East Liverpool ended a three-game losing streak a year ago at the expense of New Philly by coming out on top 26-6.

AFTER studying scouting reports on New Philly, Potter coach Bob Hedmond described the Quakers as a "big, strong team and the game against Martins Ferry was one of the hardest hitting game I have seen, something like our game with Steubenville Central last week."

"They have a big fullback in Tate and Keiser, their halfback is probably their top ball carrier. I rate Dan Mamula (220) their toughest lineman," Hedmond said.

"NEW PHILADELPHIA has a good running game, but hasn't shown much in passing so far, although they do throw quite a bit."

Hedmond announced today that sophomore linebacker Clarence Crable would not be at his starting defensive post tonight and might not make the trip to New Philly. Crable has a severe sore throat and did not practice Thursday.

Crable, a fine linebacker, will be replaced either by Tom Logan, Tom Leon or Bill Hall.

Ron Echols, starting guard, who complained of a cold earlier in the week is ready and will be in the opening lineup tonight.

HALFBACK Earl Olmstead, named back-of-the-week for his showing in the Steubenville Central game, has overcome a foot injury and is expected to be in A-1 condition for tonight's important battle.

The remainder of the lineup will show Bob Forzano again running the team from quarterback, with John DiPasquale and Mercer alternating at right half and the hard-running Bob Bowyer at fullback.

RANDY STOVER and Bill Hall will hold down the end spots, with Bud Manley, Mike Snowden and Dave (The Toe) Oliver sharing the duties at the tackle spots both ways. Echols, if he is feeling up to par, will be at one guard spot, with co-captain Bruce Burbick at the other. Jim Hughes will handle the center duties.

Keiser is the leading ball totor for the Quakers with 208 yards in 42 carries, while Tate, who hits the scales at 200, is the second leading rusher. Tom Fraggasse will be the other halfback and Mark Francis will be at quarterback.

TEN OUT of the 11 starters for New Philly won letters last season and the majority played in the loss at East Liverpool.

Home Run Ball Could Be Difference

Yankees Have Power But Dodgers Claim Edge In Pitching, Speed

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The home run, a lethal weapon that has carried them to 20 World Series triumphs in 40 years, is likely to bring the New York Yankees another world championship, their seventh in eight October meetings with the Dodgers.

As in four of the previous seven clashes between the two teams, the 1963 World Series should go the limit of seven games. Except for the long ball, a department in which the Yankees clearly excel, there is little to choose between the teams.

The Dodgers, because of the possibility of the appearance of Sandy Koufax in three games, have a slight edge in pitching. The Yankees have a stouter defense but the Dodgers offset much of this advantage by their superior speed. The Yankees also will have whatever advantage comes from experience.

Everything points to a pitchers' series with runs scarce. This should suit the Yankees fine. One single blow has been known to end many a series pitching duel and the Yankees' starting line-up, with the exception of Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek, harbors home run power. The Dodgers, forced to claw and scratch for runs during the regular season, have only two legitimate long-ball hitters. They are Tommy Davis and Frank Howard.

Opening at Yankee Stadium, which would house four in a seven-game series, is another plus factor for the Yankees. Ralph Houk's team has a remarkable record at home, winning 58 of 78 so far. In contrast, the Yankees won 46 while losing 35 on the road.

The Dodgers surprisingly have played almost as well on the road as they have at home. Through Thursday's games, they show a 49-28 home record compared with 49-32 away.

The planned pitching alignment by the rival managers also figures to give the Yankees an edge, however slight. Barring 11th-hour changes, Houk will open with Whitey Ford. Opposing him in what shapes up as a brilliant duel of left-handers will be Koufax.

Another left-handed match-up is expected for the second game, also at Yankee Stadium. This one will pit Al Downing, the Yankees' 22-year-old sensation, against veteran Johnny Podres. It will be the first series participation by Downing who has won 13 of 17 decisions since his recall in June. Podres, 14-11, owns a 3-1 series record, including an unforgettable 2-0 triumph over the Yankees that brought the Brooklyn Dodgers their first world championship in 1955.

The prediction here is that the series will end Friday, Oct. 11, at Yankee Stadium with Ford beating Koufax 1-0 in the seventh game on a late-inning home run by Elston Howard. It's that close.

Sportswriters Favor

Yanks By 2-1 Margin

NEW YORK (AP)—Sportswriters who will be covering the World Series favor the New York Yankees by a 2-1 margin over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Of 85 responding to a poll by The Associated Press, 59 made the American League champion Yankees their choice. The National League champion Dodgers were the choice of 26.

In league games champion Wittenberg entertains Otterbein at night, and Muskingum invades Marietta under the lights. Afternoon contests send Mount Union to Capital, Akron to Baldwin Wallace, Heidelberg to Ohio Wesleyan, Kenyon to Wooster and Hiram to Oberlin.

Power Fails In Chester, Newell Area

Electric power service in two areas of the Chester-Newell district was interrupted early today when a 12,000-volt line and one of 7,200 volts burned through, officials of the Monongahela Power Co. reported.

The larger line burned at 3:35 a.m., halting power for a number of residents along Fairview Rd., Washington School Rd., Red-dick's Hill and Snow Hill until service was restored at 7:05 a.m.

The second outage occurred with the burning of the smaller line at 7:30 a.m., affecting an area including Fairview Rd., State Route 2 and part of the Washington School Rd. until 9:30.

Cause of the line failures has not been determined, but could have resulted from a number of things such as faulty insulators, a spokesman said.

Midland NAACP Slates Picketing

Unless Crucible Steel Co. takes prompt action to employ a Negro office girl, members of the Midland Chapter of the NAACP will demonstrate at the company's headquarters at Midland Ave.

Will T. Leavell, president, announced the decision following the chapter's meeting Thursday night at the Steelworkers Hall.

Leavell said Crucible has promised for a long time to hire a Negro office worker, but no action has been taken.

Twenty new members have been enrolled, boosting the chapter's membership to approximately 200.

Mose Perkins reported on plans for fund-raising entertainment next month.

Several members plan to attend the state NAACP conference Oct. 25-27 in Johnstown.

Veterans' Post Seeks $1,100 In Civil Action

A civil action is scheduled to be heard Wednesday in Municipal Court in which VFW Post 66 seeks judgment for $1,100 from James V. Flasco, 1837 Idaho Ave., for allegedly unpaid rent on space in the organization's Minerva St. building used as a skating rink.

The petition filed by the VFW alleges that Flasco entered into a lease on March 1, 1961, agreeing to pay $50 per week as the rent for the space occupied by Harmony Skateland. It alleges that no rent has been paid since last March 1. The rent due for 22 weeks totals $1,100, the petition alleges.

In another cause of action in the same petition, the VFW seeks a court order requiring Flasco to surrender the premises. However, court attaches said the court is scheduled to hear only the part of the case related to the alleged debt.

Awards Presented At Fete For Crucible Golf League

The Crucible Management Club's Golf League held a final outing at the Beaver Valley Country Club, topped off with a dinner and awards.

W. T. Bickerton of East Liverpool, golf committee chairman, presided. Joseph Scalise of Beaver was toastmaster and presented trophies to members of the championship team, captained by Donald Luster of Ohio View.

Other members of the first place team are: Paul Brucker, alternate captain, William Kollmann and Vance Crossland, all three of Ohio View, Carl Shawl, Claire Parks and Ralph Yanni, all three of East Liverpool, Henry Salter of Wellsville, James Lary, Richard Blazier, Tom Davis and William Gleason, all four of Beaver.

Runners-up, captained by Coy Montgomery of Midland, received awards as did the flight champions, Ed Sanford and Jim Hamilton, both of East Liverpool, Peter Fedorka of Midland, and Joseph Kinney and Ralph Pickens, both of Beaver.

Robert Rudolph of Beaver, captain of the third place team, received an award for his hole-in-one last week during a three-way playoff, at the Ohio View Golf Course. The 130-yard shot was sunk at the No. 6 hole and according to witnesses hit a about three feet in front of the cup, took one bounce and went in.

This is the second consecutive year that Rudolph has made a hole-in-one. They are his only two. Last year on August 7 — his wife's birthday — he dropped the much sought shot at No. 3 hole on the same course.

Claiming to be an average "duffer", he shoots an average 45 for nine holes. He is a cousin of the professional golfer, Mason Rudolph, and has been playing regular the last five years.

Rudolph is chief chemist in the Chemical Laboratory of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Company.

made in December, the project was figured at slightly over $600,000.

Advised of the $846,780 estimate in early August, Council said it would be impossible for the city to furnish its 50 per cent.

Sherman Price, in charge of design and planning at the Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, gave the estimates to the mayor in a meeting late this morning at City Hall. Also attending were Engineer George S. Bloomgren, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate and Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin.

Price indicated the central office at Columbus believes the Federal Bureau of Public Roads would favor the alternate plan calling for narrowing the pavement, rather than cutting the length of the project.

Mayor Goodballet expressed surprise and pointed out that in three years of negotiations the city has been told repeatedly that the federal agency would not consent to a pavement narrower than 36 feet.

Price said the central office indicated it feels the federal agency would agree to the narrower pavement if it were justified in traffic counts. He said in some instances municipalities have been permitted to construct new roads engineered for traffic standards in the near future — rather than projecting the needs far into the future — particularly if there is right-of-way space available for future widening.

Bureau of Public Roads approval is necessary because the federal agency has agreed to furnish approximately 50 per cent of the project cost. No state money is involved, as the Highway Department simply is acting as agent between the city and the federal agency.

300 White Demonstrators Dispersed At Negroes' Home

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A hundred law enforcement officers scattered some 300 white demonstrators at a home newly occupied by a Negro family as two days of disturbances built up to dangerous pitch Thursday night.

The threat of serious disorder was such that Sheriff Bernard Keiter read the riot act to the mob, ordering them to disperse.

Stubborn ones were cleared away by a wedge formation of riot-trained officers wielding nightsticks. Several bruised shins were incurred.

Montgomery County deputies, patrolmen from nearby towns and townships and rescue unit volunteers moved into Townview, just west of Dayton, when milling, picketing, shouting youths began getting rowdy.

Inside the $12,000-class house in a formerly nonintegrated neighborhood, James Fuller and his wife were still unpacking from their move. They and their four children, age six months to 7 years, moved into the house Tuesday on a plot where Fuller, a self-employed contractor, had done some work.

Fuller, 30, did not confront the boisterous crowd which carried such signs as "2-4-6-8, run the niggers out of state."

Before they finished breaking up the crowd, largely consisting of teen-agers, officers made three arrests. Sheriff Keiter said he didn't expect to press charges, however.

Keiter said the affair "makes me ashamed of my citizenship." He broadcast a plea to Montgomery County parents "in this and every neighborhood" to keep their children under control.

About a dozen officers ringed the Fuller residence after the disturbance subsided, on guard to prevent anything such as happened early Wednesday when a thrown object smashed the front window of the home.

Trust Setup Explained
Kiwanis Guest Speaks On Estate Distribution

The value of proper arrangements for distributing funds and property after death was emphasized by Roy Wilson, trust officer for the First National Bank, at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

The use of trusts for estate administration was described by Wilson, who said his department handles a variety of trust programs and investment of such funds.

The bank's department was established in 1920, and currently has some $9 million in assets, he said, including stocks, bonds, real estate and other properties.

Wilson explained his duties in aiding in estate planning and investment procedures and the method of investment by the department with the approval of a committee of experienced and knowledgeable men.

He said trust funds are generally invested in large corporations related to items which are necessary to our way of life — food, utilities, automobiles and oil.

The officers are kept informed on these market possibilities through various publications, brokers and advisory services. Wilson said he believes a trust program had advantages over use of a relative in administering an estate because the trust department has more experience and understanding of tax and financial aspects.

Quite often, he said, family friction results from a relative's handling of the estate. He said the fee for a trust program is the same for one person.

Concerning the planning of an estate, a man or woman can utilize the last will, trust agreements, life insurance, an attorney, an accountant and the bank trust officers.

Wilson cautioned against drawing up one's own will, emphasizing only an attorney can legally prepare a will for another.

He also spoke on methods of establishing trusts for both small and large estates, listing various means of savings on taxes for the survivors.

Wilson was introduced by James Reaney, program chairman. Merrill Hall, president, was in charge.

Aides Named In Bulb Sale

Ward captains for the Chester Lions Club's annual light bulb sale Oct. 7 were named at a meeting of the club Thursday night at the Chester City Park.

The captains for the house-to-house sale, slated to start at 6 p. m., are:

Dino Rossi, First Ward; James Wallace, Second Ward; Jerry D'Angelo, Third Ward; John Abrams, Fourth Ward; Anthony Bernardi, Fifth Ward, and Isaac Pettel, Route 30 district.

Clifton Huff is general chair, which includes Charles Mansfield and Walter Jordan. Proceeds will be used for the club's sight conservation and community service projects.

John D. Herron of New Cumberland, deputy governor for District 29-L, discussed membership, stressing the need for an intensive effort to open the Lions organization to every community-minded citizen.

"The need for community service becomes greater each day in the rapidly growing world," he said, asking the Chester club to strengthen its membership. He said the Lions new campaign for members is based on five "I's" — invite, induct, instruct, indoctrinate and involve.

A district-wide membership campaign has been launched through June 1964, with special drives in October and March. Jordan is a member of the district committee.

Nineteen attended. W. Cecil Jones of New Cumberland was also a guest.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Probation until their 18th birthdays is the penalty a 14-year-old boy and a 16-year-old boy must pay for alleged Nazi Party activities.

The boys, the alleged "fuehrer" and secretary of a small local Nazi group, were sentenced Thursday by Juvenile Court Judge Russell V. Thomas. The cases of four other teen-agers involved were continued, pending recommendations by the probation department on whether they should be considered delinquents.

All six boys, who authorities say have renounced their Nazi ideology, have been ordered to participate in a school program re-indoctrinating them in Americanism.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

No Room For New Writers On TV?

"If I had to crack TV today as a writer, I'd never make it," says one of TV's most successful writers—Rod Serling.

"The guys running TV have all the talent they need now, and they aren't looking for writers. I can remember when CBS here had 15 to 20 script readers. Hal Humphrey. Now they have two," he adds.

I had to ask Rod where he'd be today, if unable to assault the virtually impervious walls of TV writing.

"Either back in the regular Army or working in a butcher store. My Dad was the best butcher in Binghamton, N.Y. His thumbs weighed 14 pounds," Rod says.

IT WAS ROD'S three years in the Army during World War II which inspired him to write "Patterns," the 1955 TV Theater drama that established his career. The cold-hearted business tycoon in the story was taken from an Army officer Rod knew.

Maybe it strikes you as incredible for Rod to state his talent would go undiscovered by TV's producers in 1963, but TV eight years ago was a much different animal from the behemoth it has grown into today.

"In the days when I began submitting scripts to TV," says Rod, "we did it direct. I didn't need a previous TV credit or an agent or anything else—just my type-writer and an idea."

"YOU MUST REMEMBER, of course, that TV then was desperate for writers. The established guys wouldn't touch the medium. There wasn't enough money in it."

"But now the networks are fat cats financially, and the big established writers are in TV giving the producers just what they want. Without a credit or an agent, you can't even get in the door."

I chided Rod for mellowing. It seems to me, I told him, that he is going along with TV's foibles instead of fighting them the way he used to.

"It's not mellowing, it's fatigue," bandies Rod. "There was a time when I thought TV was worth grousing and moaning about, but now I'm convinced it never will be an art form. I don't look for much improvement, either, for the next 10 years."

ROD'S DEFINITION of an art form is a medium which brings the public at least a minimum of things which can be looked at, read or generally indulged in 20 years later without sending one screaming from the room in despair over their archaic tone.

A year after "Patterns," Rod wrote "Requiem for a Heavyweight," which won for him the first Peabody Award ever given a writer. Honors notwithstanding, Rod says he had occasion recently to pull the kinescope off the shelf and re-view it, and what he saw wasn't pleasant.

"It was wheezy, especially in the early part, and I was embarrassed looking at it," he says, frankly.

MELLOWNESS, fatigue or whatever you might call it, Rod isn't so immersed in it that he still can't react quite violently to mediocrity and its sources.

When his Twilight Zone series begins its fifth season tonight on CBS-TV (9:30, Channel 2 and 9), it will be back in its half-hour format.

"I told them I wouldn't do the hour again," says Rod. "I can't see this six-day shooting schedule on an hour show. There's no way to get the proper quality from a series filmed that way, so I guess you can say I'm still fighting for quality."

"Otherwise I would sell my 120 films from Twilight Zone, take the half million dollar profit and go fishing."

ROD STILL could do just that and grab another bundle from the movie industry. He wrote the adaptation of the "Seven Days in May" novel for Paramount, which is releasing the movie later this year.

For that chore Rod received $100,000, plus a piece of the box office receipts. That's slightly better than he'd make as an Army sergeant or running his own butcher store.

Third Fischer Quint Goes To Bottle Feeding

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — A third Fischer quintuplet went exclusively to bottle feeding Thursday after she pulled her feeding tube off her face. All five quints were reported "acting like normal babies."

Mary Margaret, the last-born, was the latest of the premature babies to end feeding through plastic tubes attached to the quint's noses. James Andrew and Mary Magdalene, placed exclusively on bottle-feeding Thursday, got another increase in feedings today.

Dr. James Berbos, who delivered the babies to Mrs. Andrew Fischer, 30, Sept. 14, said the switch to bottles indicates the quints are growing strong enough to handle the tiring sucking chore.

A spokesman for St. Luke's Hospital said the babies continued to be active, raising their feet and turning in their Isolettes.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Experience Chart Benefits Discussed

Most parents and teachers would agree that, in any public school classroom, no child should feel inferior because he has not gone a way from home on vacation or visited different places. But won't some children this fall feel inferior for just such reasons? One device for teaching beginning reading is the experience chart. Individual children tell of their experiences, often related to places they have visited. The teacher writes on a chart or blackboard what the child reports. Then all the children may read what she has written. It has a strong meaning for the children who have had the experiences to see them written down.

ALL THE CHILDREN may have such experiences if the teacher goes with them as a class to visit a dairy or airport. But as relatively few classrooms of children can make such excursions, the reading chart is generally limited to the experiences of those children who have at various times visited such places with their parents.

Obviously more children of well-to-do parents than of less affluent parents will have gone on such excursions and therefore the former group of children have an advantage and may feel superior while the latter group is at a disadvantage and may feel inferior.

Why doesn't the experience chart more often record observations and experiences which any child may have, regardless of how few or many places he has visited, such as things that could occur at home? There must be many a teacher with enough creative genius to inspire any child to report experiences more or less familiar to all his classmates.

A favorite procedure by many teachers of children in the upper grades, junior and high school, especially during September and October, is to have these children write essays on their summer vacation experiences which are read aloud before the class.

The children who have had glorious trips and vacation experiences write about them eagerly and read their essays often with feelings of superiority. Frequently, they win high grades for their compositions.

WHAT ABOUT the children who remained at home all summer? As they hear what some classmates have written, they may suppose they themselves have had no experiences worth writing or telling about.

How are they going to win good grades in essay writing? How are they going to feel they are as worthy as the children who had glamorous vacations and trips to write about?

Fortunately, some teachers are so skillful as to inspire the child who summered at home to write vividly and feelingly of his summer there.

The child who does so may reveal higher creative talent and skill than the child who wrote and told of an exciting trip or vacation adventure. Indeed, he may be among the most gifted and creative children in his class. We need to be concerned that his talents have "not been born to bush unseen and waste their sweetness on the desert air." Besides, we want him to feel worthy; he's a precious person.

LET ME ENTREAT teachers, as they have children write about their personal experiences, to keep asking themselves how the children feel who don't have glamorous vacations to write and tell about.

My bulletins, "The Lonely Timid Youth" and "Stimulate Your Child's Imagination," may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Tax Data Shows Auto Sales Gains

Sales of new cars in Columbiana County in 1963 are continuing at levels ahead of the same period in 1962, according to sales tax data issued today at Columbus by State Treasurer John D. Herbert.

Since the start of the current fiscal year July 1, auto sales taxes have produced $156,146, an increase of $24,140 from the $132,006 shown at the same time in the preceding fiscal year.

Sales taxes on other commodities brought in $57,156 in the two weeks ending Sept. 21, off $3,591 from the $60,747 shown at the same time last year. Since the start of the fiscal year, the taxes total $335,057, an increase of $45,836 from the $289,221 listed at the same time in 1962.

Helicopter 'Mystery' Proves Prosaic Trip

The "mysterious" landing by a helicopter Thursday noon on the incomplete second stage of the city Freeway proved to be just a routine inspection trip by a State Highway Department official.

Sherman Rice, design engineer at the Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, used the whirlybird for a trip here to check on the progress of work by the Great Lakes Construction Co. of Cleveland.

Price was accompanied by another Highway Department official and a photographer in addition to the pilot. Because the brief stop-over was unannounced, there had been speculation a lost pilot had halted here briefly to seek directions.

Pennsylvania Truck Driver Dies In Wreck

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Truck driver Howard Stanley Hall, 30, of Rt. 3, New Castle, Pa., perished Thursday night when his tractor-trailer ran off Interstate 75 at the Ohio 67 interchange just outside Wapakoneta.

The Highway Patrol said Hall may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Organized Crime Seen As Biggest Business In U.S.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The biggest business in the United States is organized crime, which takes in about $22 billion a year, says a Justice Department official.

William Fowler Jr., special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, told a group of law enforcement officials that crime has "woven itself into the fabric of the republic." He said no legitimate business takes in as much as the racketeers and mobsters.

Fowler described big-time crime as a national cancer with international connections and said the only way it could be fought was by arousing the people.

As an example, he pointed to Newport, Ky., just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Newport was one of the places mentioned by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy in testimony before a Senate Subcommittee as one of the places where organized gambling and prostitution were wiped out by local reformers helped by the federal government. Newport's casinos shut down in late 1961 after a reform-minded sheriff won in a bitterly-contested election.

Hints from Heloise
— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Folks: I came across the greatest little idea a few months ago and I thought I should pass it along to you.

There are many of us who sleep on heating pads and use them daily for many different reasons. Also many of us use foot warmers. Others use hot water bottles, etc.

Have you ever thought of making a cover out of corduroy for any or all of these gadgets? I did.

Gals, what a difference this made in the "heating session". The gadget was padded with softness, the heat seemed to distribute better, and the soft, velvety corduroy was so nice next to my skin. To say nothing of the cleanliness of the cover in my bed... or the beauty for those of you who keep heating pads in chairs. They can be covered to match any decor!

Wide wale corduroy gives the pad a softness when under the afflicted parts. When laid on top of the body the corduroy holds the pad in place and keeps it from sliding off shoulder or leg.

MOST PEOPLE who use heating pads perspire. These corduroy covers may be removed easily and washed in the basin with a mild detergent and rinsed in warm water to which about one-fourth cup of vinegar has been added. This will leave it nice and soft. Do not rinse out the vinegar water. There will be no odor when it dries.

The cover can be thrown in the washing machine and dryer, shaken or brushed a few times with that old brush and it will look like new. No ironing required.

These little heating pad covers

(which you can make yourself for practically nothing) make wonderful gifts for the sick or for friends who use heating pads, such as arthritics, or for the Mom and Pop who "Have Everything"—or to put on the heating pads just to warm the bed on cold nights before crawling in and snoring off...

Give a gift...that others can't buy! A washable cover for a heating pad, water bottle or foot warmer. It's quite inexpensive, too.

CHRISTMAS will be here before you know it. Make lots of them and have them on hand. Make your gifts way before time and have them ready when that day comes whether it be for a holiday, birthday or a gift for an old friend.

Here's how to make them:

It takes one-half yard of corduroy to make a cover for the average heating pad. (Measure your pad first and add about two inches.)

Fold the material in half (it comes in various widths.) Stitch it up on your machine (or by hand) just like you would a pillowslip. Hem the edge.

Now...you can either go first class (if you are adept) and put grippers (bought at dime store) or snaps, or buttons and button holes or...if you are real lazy as I am...fasten the end with small safety pins! I like pins. No extra effort. Remove when you wash the cover!

FOR THOSE who like to give little gifts to sick people this is a wonderful idea. It is something they do not have, never will have unless given one, and cannot possibly buy, as I have never seen any on the market. It's an

And did you know...that while you are making these if the person just happens to use a hot water bottle or an ice pack, matching covers can be made out of the same material? What a wonderful gift.

HEATING EQUIPMENT

When you think of
GAS OR OIL
HEATING think of
IRON FIREMAN

Buying heating equipment is a big step for any family. Naturally you want to get the best possible value for your money... but never judge heating equipment on purchase price alone. Too many so-called "bargains" turn out to be the most expensive in the end.
Iron Fireman oil and gas heating equipment is built to give you service; it is built to give you years of luxurious comfort with outstanding fuel savings. It is not the lowest priced nor the highest—but in the long run it is by far your best dollar value.

Good installation is equally important.
Our men are carefully selected, well equipped and factory trained. We will see that you get the full measure of comfort and fuel economy that is built into Iron
Fireman equipment.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEASONS

QUESTION: What causes the seasons?

ANSWER: The changing seasons result from the fact that the earth has a path or orbit around the sun which it takes a full year to complete; and all during this time the earth is tilted, along its axis, 23½ degrees to the plane of its orbit. As we see in the large upper picture, places in the United States are tilted, in summer, toward the rays of the sun and this makes them hotter. In winter (lower picture), the same places are tilted away from the sun's rays so they are cooler.

The seasons are four divisions of the year, each beginning when the sun crosses an equinox or solstice. At the start of the summer solstice, for example, the North Pole of the earth is inclined 23½ degrees toward the sun, so the northern hemisphere receives the sun's rays more directly than at the winter solstice, when the North Pole is inclined away from the sun. Then it is the beginning of summer in the northern hemisphere.

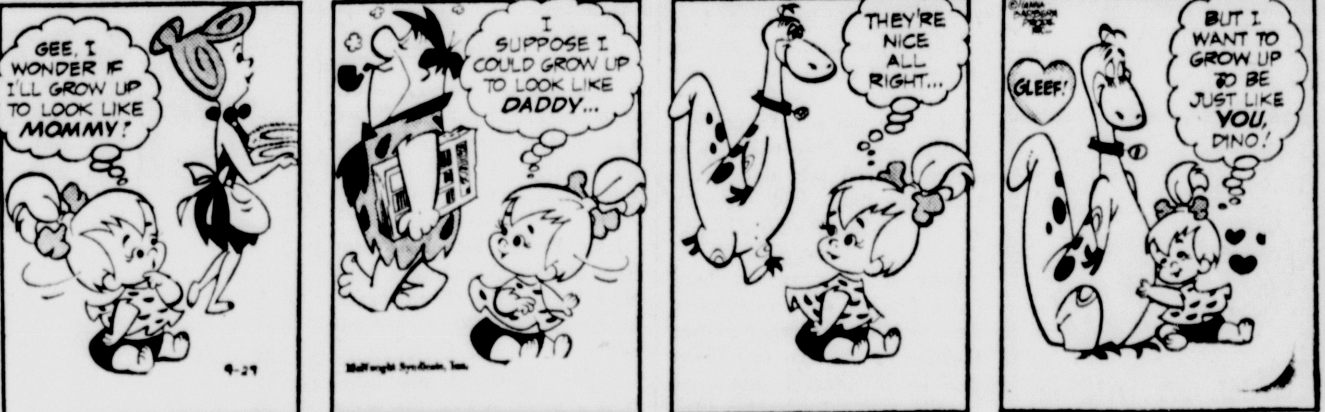

FOR YOU TO DO: In case you are puzzled by "solstice" and "equinox", remember this: the summer solstice is the time when sunlight gets as far north as possible, the winter solstice when it gets as far south as possible. Equinoxes (about March 21 and Sept. 23) are times when day and night are of equal length everywhere.

Gregory Hueston of Colonia, N. J., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

ROME (AP)—Hundreds of well-wishers turned out to welcome Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, to Rome.

As the crowd cheered, a bouquet of red and white carnations, Poland's national colors, was pressed into the 62-year-old cardinal's hands.

Cardinal Wyszyński, in Rome for the second session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, is involved in an increasingly tense struggle between the Church and Poland's Communist government.

LONDON (AP)—The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. A.M. Ramsey, issued a statement asking all Anglican churches to offer prayer for the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Dr. Ramsey, who has thrown his personal support behind the idea of Christian churches striving for a common meeting ground, said:

"As the Vatican Council starts its new session in Rome, I ask that in our Anglican churches prayer will be offered that the Divine wisdom may guide its decisions in the service of justice, truth and unity."

TOKYO (AP) — President Liu Shao-chi of Communist China left Pyongyang by train, ending a 12-day visit to North Korea, Radio Pyongyang said.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to Newport and unveiled a stone marker in a park named in his honor.

Scores shouted "Welcome home, Ike." Eisenhower expressed pleasure and surprise at the welcome at what he thought "would be just a quiet unveiling."

Immediately after the afternoon ceremony, Eisenhower returned to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa. Eisenhower established a summer White House at Newport in 1957, 1958 and 1960.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've been trying to write this letter for several days but I become so furious every time I think about it I am unable to gather my thoughts.

Our son was not accepted into kindergarten this fall because he will not be 5 years old until November 16. James is an unusually precocious child. He has been reading for almost a year.

He began reciting poetry from memory when he was 2½ and I don't mean little nursery rhymes. James prefers the classics.

Three children in this block were accepted into kindergarten simply because they were born from 7 to 12 weeks earlier than our James. None of these children is particularly bright. I refuse to believe that they are better prepared for school than our son.

When are the schools going to remodel the archaic entrance requirements and take into consideration the total child instead of just his birthday?—INDIGNANT.

Dear In: It's awfully hard for a teacher or a superintendent to tell an adoring mother that her genius son (who may well be brilliant) is not emotionally ready for school. The child who is reciting Keats may not be ready for kindergarten, regardless of what his mother thinks.

It's true that some older children are not ready either, but the most workable over-all rule of thumb is to establish an age for entrance and stick to it.

Best Man Blues

Dear Ann: I'm sure you do some good, but I want you to know that you do some harm once in awhile, too.

A cousin of mine is getting married around Christmas. He asked me to be his best man at his wedding and I said I would. He then asked me if I owned a tux and I said, "No."

He told me I would have to rent one because the wedding is going to be a fancy affair. When I asked who was going to pay for the tux rental he said, "Ann Landers says you are."

I think this is all wrong and I don't care who says otherwise. I didn't ask my cousin if I could be his best man. He asked me. Why should I have to pay money out of my own pocket to do him a favor?

Please print this right away and tell me if you actually made up this crazy law. It doesn't sound like you. But then you hear from so many nuts it's possible that you have turned a little nutty yourself. Thank you.—BROKE.

Dear Broke: Yes, I do hear from some nuts, but then I get some lovely letters from charming people like you, so it evens out.

I didn't make up the "law." It is a tradition that the members of the wedding party pay for their own outfits. It is considered an honor and a privilege to have been selected—and honors and privileges often entail responsibilities.

Family Affairs

Dear Ann: I'm 35, married for the second time and have two teen-age children by my first marriage. These children live with my wife and me.

Three months ago I met a girl, 30, who came to work at the plant. She is married for the second time, also. This woman has three children by her first marriage.

We eat lunch together every day and she has told me that her second marriage is not working out. I'm in love for the first time in my life. Bells ring. I get a queasy feeling in my stomach. I get to work early, leave late, hate to see the weekend come, etc. I think of her constantly.

Should I tell her how I feel and see if a third marriage for both of us can be arranged?—THE VIRGINIAN.

Dear Virginian: No. 3 would be no better than (and no different from) No. 1 or No. 2 after a few months. Stick with what you have and make it work.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rhodes Chooses

Manpower Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Headed by Kenneth M. Lloyd of Youngstown as chairman, 11 men have been appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes as members of the new Ohio Manpower Advisory Committee.

Serving at the pleasure of the governor and without salary, the committee will implement the manpower development and training programs of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Members besides Lloyd are Arthur W. Collins of Cincinnati, school Supt. Harold H. Eibling of Columbus and Martin Essex of Akron. Frank Evans of Cleveland, Robert M. Ginn of Shaker Heights, Robert E. Kline of Dayton, Warren J. Smith of Columbus, Douglas Stanfield of Westerville, William N. Thomas Sr. of Toledo, and David D. White of Columbus.

The secretary will be H. Paul Messmer, chief of the BUC's manpower development division.

Board Sets Meeting

With Picketing Group

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Board of Education has set a meeting for 2 p.m. Monday in the school board auditorium, which seats 359, to discuss its negotiations with the picketing United Freedom Movement.

The major demand among seven made to the board by the UFM is to eliminate what it calls "de facto segregation in Cleveland schools."

Meanwhile, picketing outside the board's downtown building enters its third day today.
